BATTLE ON.

Electors of Great Britain and Ireland Open Contest Today.

The Chances Largely in Favor of Victory For the Liberal Party.

Tories Fighting For Every Seat to Deplete Nationalist Treasury.

O'CONNOR PREDICTS HOME RULE

The great electoral battle in Great Britain and Ireland begins today and will continue two weeks. Hardly five weeks ago the House of Lords dared to reject the budget, offered by Lloyd-George and adopted by the House of Commons. Heavy wagers are being laid on the result, and the shortening of the odds on the Liberals seems to indicate a close contest for control of the Government.

In the late House of Commons there were 670 members. Of this number 276 were Liberals, 157 Conservatives, eighty-three Irish Nationalists and fifty-four Laborites. As a rule the Irish Nationalists and Laborites voted with the Liberals. This gave the Liberals a good working majority at all times.

Recent statistics show the total number of electors on the register for 1910 is 7,705,717, an increase of 90,279 over 1900. England and Wales provide 6,221,722, Scotland 785,208, and Ireland 698,787. Whether they win or lose at the polls the Unionists will make, and already have made, the hardest and most earnest fight in their annals for political supremacy.

Every constituency in England, Scotland and Wales will be contested by the Tories, and they will also contest the seats held by a little group of Irish Liberals in Ireland as well as many of the seats represented by Irish Nationalists. In this their hopes of securing a strictly Nationalist seat are either absolutely nil or very remote, but they put candidates forward to cause John Redmond and his followers great and unnecessary expenses.

This will deplete the funds of the Unionists, who are fighting for home rule and other reforms for Ireland. It is expected that not a single Liberal will be returned unopposed, a state thing in marked contrast to 1900, when twenty-five Liberals and one member were allowed a walk-over, while only eleven Unionists, of whom only three were free, were without opponents.

The slogan of the Liberals is the "Ed-George budget and the veto of the House of Lords. On the other hand the Tories cry for "14 reform and the creation of a peerage of peasant proprietors."

It is no doubt that the victory of the Conservatives is a thing one. It appeals to many instincts, and it need scarcely be said that to a large extent, the question of self-interest will determine the vote of the manufacturer or the farmer. As far as the reformers are concerned, Lancashire, with its wealth of industries, its thousands of mills and factories and its immense army of toilers, will be the center of the political strife. In the South and in the Midlands the Unionists have hopes of winning many seats, but if they are to win this election they must make heavy inroads in the great industrial constituencies of the North.

Both sides regard Lancashire as the key to the situation, and on the capture of Lancashire they are concentrating the greater part of their forces.

T. P. O'Connor, who is back in England, has taken a survey of the field and declares that the chances for a Liberal victory and home rule for Ireland are exceptionally bright.

GREAT RESPECT

Shown Cardinal Gibbons by People of Many Creeds.

The respect and attention shown Cardinal Gibbons by people of all creeds in Washington last Sunday is an indication of good will toward the church. It was on the occasion of his annual visit to St. Patrick's church. While no unalterable rule has been fixed for this visit, it has come to be a general understanding that the Cardinal will journey from Baltimore to Washington to celebrate mass on the second Sunday in January.

Hitherto representative Catholics have participated in the reception to His Eminence, but the greeting last Sunday included men of all creeds, many of them high in diplomatic and political circles. The Cardinal arrived in Washington Saturday evening and was taken to the rectory of St. Patrick's church by the pastor, Rev. Father William T. Russell.

Cardinal Gibbons celebrated Pontifical high mass at 11 o'clock, but long before that hour the pews were filled with diplomats, statesmen, army and navy officers and leaders of thought. The church was not large enough to accommodate the throng and there were more people outside than inside the church. As the distinguished dignitary of the church entered the sanctuary the entire throng arose and remained standing until after he was seated. An eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Edward A. Page, professor of philosophy at the Catholic University.

After the mass the Cardinal held a reception in St. Patrick's rectory and a luncheon was served. Among the guests were the Italian Ambassador, the Austrian Ambassador, the Ministers from Sweden, Chile, the Netherlands and Spain, Speaker Cannon, Senators Elkins, Aldrich, Beveridge, Carter, Overman and Taylor, Associate Justices White and McKenna of the United States Supreme Court; Representatives Goulden, Farnes, Fitzgerald and Olcott, New York, and Ransdell, Louisiana; Dr. M. F. Egan, American Minister to Denmark; Charles W. Russell, American Minister to Persia; a number of high officials of the army and navy, and many clergymen and several Government officers.

HARD TO BEAT.

Protestant Minister Talks of Matrimony in Ireland.

The Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago gave a luncheon last Saturday and the chief guest of honor was the Rev. T. W. Davidson, pastor of the Lynn Methodist church of Belfast, Ireland. Dr. Davidson was introduced to the club by Judge James H. Hagan.

"We hear too much about the dark side of life in Ireland, Ireland's woes and wrongs are too much in everyone's mouth. There is a sunny side of life in the old country. The people there know how to enjoy themselves, and do it to the full. We hear of the decay of Irish institutions."

"There is one institution that is not in decay, but which seems still in the pristine flush of its vigor, and which supplies never failing joy to Ireland. That is the institution of matrimony. It gives gaiety to the whole nation. People get married in Ireland with enthusiasm and hope. In quality and quantity of the product of the institution Ireland never has been surpassed. We don't know what race suicide is."

"A sign of the extinction of religion and political hatreds in Ireland is the friendship between Catholic priests and Protestant ministers. Formerly it would have been impossible for them to know each other. Now a Protestant minister works in public movements with Catholic clergymen just as they do here."

The politically hopeful sign for Ireland is that John Bull is doing his best to understand us now and trying sincerely to legislate for Ireland's lasting good. It ought to be recognized that this is the case, and that the door of hope is open. Better days are coming for Ireland."

CHANGE DATES

And Quarters For Benefit of Division 3 and Its Members.

Although the weather was disagreeable the attendance at the meeting of Division 3, A. O. H., on Thursday evening of last week was large. President Patrick T. Sullivan occupied the chair. It was the first meeting of 1910, and all present had valuable suggestions to offer. John Martin and John Morris, who had been ill, were reported back at work. While Thomas Callahan and James Horan were reported as much improved. County President Welsh was also reported as much improved.

State President George J. Butler acted as installing officer and made the ceremony quite impressive. President Sullivan made an address in which he promised to do all in his power to make Division 3 prosper. He urged the members to assist him to the best of their ability. Each of the other officers made able and thoughtful talks.

It was decided to engage the Red Men's Hall, northwest corner Ninth and Portland avenue, for further meetings, and to change the meeting nights from the first and third Thursdays to the first and third Mondays. The change will be operative on the first Monday in February.

Thomas Kennedy, one of the oldest members of the division, made an address that elicited applause. Others who spoke briefly were Patrick T. Mullin, John Hession, Thomas Noon, Martin Sheehan, Patrick Begley, James Stevens and Hugh Hourigan. Cigars were passed during the evening and all enjoyed the smoker.

FITZGERALD WON.

The first partyless election in Boston was held on Tuesday and resulted in the election of former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, who received 46,968 votes. His nearest opponent received 1,225 votes less. Mr. Fitzgerald is the owner and editor of the Boston Republic, a Catholic weekly journal. He will serve as Mayor for four years. Storrey, his leading opponent, is a banker and one of Boston's prominent business men. Mayor Hibberd, the incumbent, was a candidate for re-election, not because he wanted office, but because he wanted an endorsement of his administration. He received 1,700 votes.

EXCELLENT SHOWING.

During December, 1909, the total number of additions to the ranks of the Catholic Knights of America was seventy-four. This makes an excellent showing for the closing month of the year.

SATOLLI

Dead Is Honored as in Life by Catholics and People America.

First Papal Delegate to This Country Has Passed Away.

Coupled Devotion With Diplomacy and Statesmanship in Career.

WHAT LEADING PRELATES SAY

His Eminence Cardinal Satolli died in his palace at Rome early last Saturday morning. His death had been expected for several weeks, yet the news of his demise caused general regret throughout the Catholic world. Pope Pius X. was the friend and admirer of Cardinal Satolli, and when he learned that he was dying sent him the Papal blessing.

Cardinal Satolli was born near Perugia, Italy, in 1839. As a boy he was devout, yet ambitious to learn. He was a great friend of the late Leo XIII. even before he became Pope. In 1888 he was created titular Bishop of Lepanto and canon of St. John Lateran. In 1893 Pope Leo sent Monsignor Satolli to the United States as his representative to the Columbian Exposition in Chicago. So well did he acquire himself as a diplomat that Pope Leo XIII. made him the first Papal Delegate to the United States. In filling this important post he showed rare diplomatic skill and straightened out many tangles between Church and State. Upon his recall to Rome he was created Cardinal and was made Prefect of the Congregation of Studies.

One of the Rome correspondents has had the temerity to say that Pope Pius X. would not have accepted the Papacy had it not been for the advice of Cardinal Satolli. Another correspondent writes that the deceased prelate made his will under date of June 25, and that his entire estate is left to a relative. This will protect the will in compliance with the laws of the Italian Government, but private instructions were left requesting the heir to divide the property among several benevolent and ecclesiastical institutions and charities.

This is not like Cardinal Satolli nor like any other Catholic churchman, who are sticklers for obedience to the law in whatever land they find it. The purpose of the will is more probably the effort of a space writer in Rome, who is utterly lacking knowledge of the Catholic church and its teachings.

When Cardinal Gibbons heard of Cardinal Satolli's death he said: "America has lost a great friend and the church a great defender." The Most Rev. John Ireland, Archbishop of St. Paul, heard the news of the Cardinal's death from newspaper reporters. He said: "In the death of Francis Satolli the College of Cardinals loses a distinguished member, the Catholic church a devoted servant, the United States a sympathetic and faithful friend. I am deeply grieved at his death."

Archbishop John M. Farley gave out this statement: "I personally feel very sorry for the death of Cardinal Satolli. I had known him since he first came to this country, and enjoyed his friendship to the end. I consider that the United States has lost a great friend in the passing of the Cardinal. He understood the country and its institutions very thoroughly and had the greatest respect for them."

The Archbishop also referred to the kind treatment American visitors in Rome always received at the hands of the late Cardinal.

HOME FOR AGED

Catholic Women of Cincinnati Make Move For Charity.

Valuable property has been secured in Cincinnati as the site for a permanent home for aged widows and men. The work leading up to the latest development has been pushed by a number of prominent Catholic ladies of Cincinnati. It has the full approval of Archbishop Moeller. The site is in that part of the city known as Mt. Auburn. The institution will be incorporated.

Those who have the work in charge propose to conduct it along nonsectarian lines. Upon the payment of a stipulated sum the aged person will be provided with a home while he lasts. Archbishop Moeller will have full supervision of the enterprise.

It is possible that the newly created institution will be ready for its mission by May 1. Improvements costing $2,000 will be made immediately. Many prominent residents of the Queen City have promised to aid in the equipment of the home. While those behind the movement have an option on the property now, the probability is that it will be purchased outright.

FRIENDLY SONS.

The Cincinnati branch of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick held its annual election last Saturday evening. The attendance was unusually large. Judge John G. O'Connor presided at the social session. The following officers were elected: President, Maurice J. Richmond; First Vice President, James P. Orr; Second Vice President, George E. Bryan; Financial Secretary, E. J. Polly; Recording Secretary, John Doyle; Treasurer, Henry J. Cain. A. J. Conroy, Joseph Kinney, John A. Manley, Thomas H. Graydon and A. C. Gilligan were named to arrange for the annual banquet on St. Patrick's day.

HONOR FORCED.

Edward J. O'Brien Again King of the Tobacco World.

Edward J. O'Brien has been honored again by election as President of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Exchange. Mr. O'Brien held the office several years and then resigned on account of private interests. He was succeeded last year by W. O. Head, who has since been elected Mayor of Louisville. Mr. Head was urged to stand for re-election this year but declined.

Just as Louisville is the leading tobacco market of the world, so is Mr. O'Brien the leading tobacco buyer and expert of the world. He knows all about it from the time it is planted until it becomes a commercial product. After serving as President of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Exchange for seven successive terms, Mr. O'Brien two years ago declined to stand for re-election. This year the men best posted in the trade would not yield to his declining, and he is again placed at the helm.

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Miss Bridget Cain, who died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Eph Devan, 829 Franklin street, on Wednesday morning, took place from St. Michael's church on Thursday morning. The deceased was twenty-eight years old.

Mrs. Agnes Michael died at her home, 1741 High street, on Wednesday morning, and her funeral took place from St. Patrick's church yesterday. The deceased was forty years old, and is survived by her husband, Jacob Michael, and one child.

Mrs. Ellen Brown, an aged and respected resident of St. Patrick's parish, died at the family residence, southeast corner of Eighteenth and High streets, early Saturday morning. She is survived by one son, James Brown, well known and popular in the West End. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church on Monday morning.

Mrs. Margaret Duddy, a venerable member of St. Cecilia's parish, died at her home, 2417 Griffiths avenue, on Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy years old, and her death was due to the ailments attendant upon old age. Three sons and two daughters survive her. The funeral, which was well attended, took place from St. Cecilia's church on Tuesday morning.

Louis E. Blum, an art glass designer, died at his home, 640 South Third street, on Tuesday morning after a lingering illness. He was survived by his mother, Mrs. Caroline Blum, a brother, Frederick Blum, and one sister, Mrs. Jacob Frame, of Toledo. The funeral took place from the Cathedral on Thursday morning, and was attended by many relatives and friends.

St. Patrick's parish lost a venerable member last week in the death of Mrs. Margaret O'Neill, of 1724 Beard street. She was a native of Ireland, but had lived more than fifty years in St. Patrick's parish. She is survived by two children, John J. O'Neill and Mrs. Daniel Ryan, a brother, Frederick Blum, and one sister, Mrs. Jacob Frame, of Toledo. The funeral took place from the Cathedral on Thursday morning, and was attended by many relatives and friends.

NEW BISHOP NAMED.

Authentic messages from Rome bear the intelligence that Rev. Father Joseph J. Price, D. D., of North Britain, Mass., has been appointed Bishop of Burlington. The see has been vacant since the death of Bishop Michaud on December 22, 1908.

DEATH AT TELL CITY.

Peter Werner, a well known resident of Tell City, Ind., and prominent in the Catholic Knights of America, died at his home in that city on Monday. His funeral took place from the Catholic church and the concourse that attended at the funeral testified to the popularity of the deceased.

SCIONS

Of Traitor's to Ireland's Cause Are the Present Irish Lords.

Descendants of Scoundrels Who Sold Their Country Are Peers.

Not One of the Twenty-Eight Were Members of Catholic Church.

DO NOT REPRESENT NATION

Students of Irish history well remember that Ireland's Parliament in College Green was destroyed 110 years ago by bribery, fraud and force. Do they remember that there was not a Catholic member of that Parliament? The members of that Parliament were all Protestants, and while some of them were noble patriots, the majority were glad to have a country to sell for titles and honors in the British service. Lord Castlereagh, the chief conspirator, soon after the act of union was passed cut his own throat. Did remorse prompt him? Unfortunately for the Irish people, his fellows did not follow suit. Many of them have descendants in the present House of Lords.

The English House of Lords, as a legislative institution, is totally unlike and apart from the many second chambers known to the parliaments of the world. It is distinctly English. It was created in England and for England. England wants Lords who have power to regulate taxation, the choice is her own.

On the other hand, Ireland has 103 representatives in the English House of Commons, and they are elected by the people of Ireland, whether they serve the country's interests, or otherwise, and Ireland under the act of union of 1800 is also represented by twenty-eight Peers in the House of Lords.

The original twenty-eight were chosen by all the titled persons in Ireland, immediately after the passage of that act 110 years ago. Since then the twenty-eight Lords have been the representatives of their own order; as a natural consequence not a man among them has ever been in sympathy with the people of the country. Not one on the list could secure an election to a District Council or a Poor Law Board. Yet these are the people's representatives in the House of Lords.

Lord Dunboyne is a junior Butler of the Ormond family; Lord Mayo a Burke and related to the infamous Lord Clanrickarde. Nugent is the family name of Lord Westmorland, and a Dillon is now Lord Clonbrock. Lord Dunalleys' ancestor, who sold his country for a Peerage, was Harry Pirtle. Rowley is the family name of Lord Longford. Richard French was the first Lord Ashdown. The first Lord Castlemaize was William Handcock. The present Lord is his descendant, and the family still owns property near Athlone. These are only a few of the scions of the treacherous twenty-eight.

The instruments of corruption in 1800 are well represented in blood and character among the present Irish Peers. Whatever may result from England's battle against her Barons, no one need mistake Ireland's feelings toward her share of the House of Lords.

PLAN BAZAR.

St. Cecilia's Parish Working For Completion of Church.

The people of St. Cecilia's parish have planned to give a bazar for the benefit of the new church. It will be held from April 4 to 11, and Mackin Council has generously given the use of its club rooms for the entire seven days. The Rev. Father A. J. Brady is very much pleased at the manner in which his parishioners have taken hold of the work.

The Executive Committee is made up as follows: Charles S. Ralby, Chairman; Walter Adams, Secretary; William Kerberg, George J. Butler, Frank Bauerle, John E. Kinney, August G. Weber, George Recktenwald, Thomas Aulsbrook, and from the Altar Society Mesdames John Carr and Charles Jacques; from the Young Ladies' Sodality, Misses B. Riordan and Mary Conroy, and Misses Agnes Jacques and Nellie May from St. Joseph's Sodality.

The societies that have signified their willingness to assist at the bazar are Mackin Council, Altar Society, Young Ladies' Sodality, St. Joseph's Sodality and the St. Vincent de Paul Society. The St. Joseph's Sodality, which is made up of the younger girls, will have charge of the country store.

Although the new St. Cecilia's church is now under roof, it will be autumn before the interior decorations and embellishments are completed. Thus far the parishioners have not collected one cent outside the parish.

GREAT SEAL.

Did you know that six years elapsed from the time a committee was appointed to select a seal for the original thirteen colonies of the United States until its adoption? It is the truth. On July 4, 1776, Congress appointed Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson to prepare a device which should be known as the "Great Seal of the United States." On June 20, 1782, the report of this committee was adopted. It was described as follows: Paleways of thirteen pieces argent and gules; a chief azure; the escutcheon on the breast of the American eagle displayed proper, holding in his dexter talon an olive branch and in his sinister a bundle of thirteen arrows; in his beak a scroll with the motto, "E Pluribus Unum." Crest: A glory breaking through a cloud proper and surrounding thirteen stars.

GREAT EUCHRE

For Benefit of St. Anthony Hospital Now Being Planned.

A mammoth euchre for the benefit of St. Anthony's Hospital will be held at Phoenix Hill Park on Wednesday and Thursday, January 26 and 27. The Franciscan Sisters, who conduct this hospital, have done an astonishing work for charity each year, and each recurring year enlists their efforts anew. More than half of their patients are without means. Each year the good people of Louisville attend a euchre or bazar to help the good work along.

St. Anthony's Hospital was opened in 1902. The large site and handsome building cost $150,000. The was bought and the building paid for on borrowed money. Combining rare business qualities with the practice of strict economy the Franciscan Sisters have been able to pay off a great part of the original debt. The ladies of the St. Anthony's Sewing Society have been the mainstay of the Franciscan nuns in all their trials and tribulations. This society is now promoting the euchre to be held at Phoenix Hill Park.

These euchres have a reputation for gathering together the best Catholic people of Louisville, the gentlemen, who are assisting the ladies in making the euchre a success will meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at St. Anthony's Hospital. All interested in the project are invited to attend.

FERVENT PRAYER

Offered by Archbishop of Boston When Court Opened.

The Boston Hibernian says: The prayer at the opening of the Superior Civil Court Wednesday, January 3, was offered by Archbishop O'Connell. It was the first occasion in the history of the county when this duty was performed by a prelate of the Catholic church. When court was opened there were on the bench Chief Justice Alden, with Archbishop O'Connell on his right; Judge Brown, Judge Dana, Judge Fox, Judge Harris and Judge White. The Archbishop's prayer was as follows:

Almighty Father, Eternal God, hear us, we, thy creatures, humbly acknowledge thy law, by which all men are judged, and the justice of thy judgments upon our actions.

Give us the light, O Lord, to understand thy ordinances, and the strength to obey them, that peace and order, the blessed fruit of thy Government, may fill the land with benediction, and that a law-giving and law-abiding people may give glory to thy Holy Name.

Teach us in thy wonderful ways the lessons of compassion as well as righteousness, so that mercy may temper justice and charity may soften chastisement.

Let all our failings, so that while duty compels us to denounce lawlessness, in our hearts we may acknowledge our own defects. Grant us, O Lord, thy guidance to understand what is just, and give to people the love of peace and order.

We humbly ask thy blessing in the name of thy Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord, who taught us to say:

"Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed by thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from all evil. Amen."

The sentiment is broad enough to suit any American, and at the same time it has the marks of unity, sanctity, catholicity and apostolicity.

FATALLY INJURED.

Patrick Gormelly, twenty-two years old, was run over and killed by a train in the A. and N. yards at East Louisville last Wednesday evening. The deceased had just obtained employment as a switchman, and was at work less than an hour when the accident occurred. He was twenty-two years old and came from Ireland to Louisville three years ago. He is survived by his parents, who live in Ireland, and one brother, Thomas Gormelly, a switchman in the employ of the L. and N. The funeral took place from St. John's church Friday morning.

GETTING READY.

Cincinnati members of the C. K. of A. have organized a Nashville Club. Its purpose is to get as many Knights as possible to attend the Supreme convention, which will assemble at the Tennessee capital next May. A side trip en route will carry the club to Mammoth Cave. Louisville Knights might try a Nashville Club with good results. The rival teams will have three months to battle in.

PROSPEROUS

Year Just Closed and New One Is Opened With Grand Eclat.

The St. Joseph Orphan Society Confers Diplomas on Its Members.

New Officers Are Installed and Several Able Addresses Made.

SEVERAL CLERGYMEN PRESENT

St. Joseph's Orphans' Society held its annual meeting and installation of officers at the asylum, Frankfort and Alexander avenues, last Sunday afternoon. It was the sixty-first annual assembly of that body, now illustrious in the annals of Louisville Catholic charities. The membership exceeds 1,000 and is still growing. The asylum is neat and well kept, and the orphans are well clothed, healthy and happy.

After the Rev. Father B. H. Westermann had invoked a prayer on the assembly of men, many of whom had traveled miles to brave the inclement weather, President Frank G. Harrington assumed the gavel and read his report. The treasurer, Edward G. Hill, also read his report, showing a balance that indicated a gain of $2,000 in the treasury. Both reports were applauded.

Vice President H. H. Frenke presented Frank J. Harrington with his diploma for twenty-five years' service in behalf of the society. Mr. Harrington was overcome with emotion, but managed to say a few words of thanks and to express his loyal and continued devotion to the society. W. G. Wetterer, H. G. Ange-meyer and Henry Thiemann, who reported the Auditing Committee, reported the books well kept and praised the fiscal officers for their untiring devotion to duty.

President Harrington presented diplomas to other members of the society who had completed twenty-five years in serving the orphans of the asylum. Those thus honored were Emil Boehler, F. E. Echsner, Paul Gambert, Ben J. Geher, Henry Michael, Carl Partusch, Ferdinand Partusch, Henry Schlachte, Henry Schoo, Frank Simon, Herman Thiemann and Frank Zimmer, all of St. Boniface branch.

From St. Martin's branch diplomas were awarded to Henry Peterwerth, Joseph Herbig, J. M. Kaelin, John Waechter, Joseph Wiemeier and Frank Walter.

St. Mary's—Joseph M. Knapp, Henry Bosquet, Joseph W. Nold, J. G. Goldbach, William Wetterer, William Boesch, and Theodore Evers. St. Anthony's—Ben Bloemer, Val Dahlem, John Huebner, Jr., Henry Ising, Henry Nadorff and Casimir Schneider.

Generous applause greeted each man as he walked forward to get his diploma. The next thing in order was the installation of new officers. They were President Joseph H. H. Frenke, Recording Secretary Henry Gude, Financial Secretary Henry Elert and Treasurer Frank P. Senn.

When President H. H. Frenke assumed the chair he was greeted with round after round of applause. He made an earnest and powerful talk. He stirred his hearers. Vice President Frenke followed in his suit. After the installation the Rev. Father Engelbert Bachmann, resident chaplain of St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, spoke a few words of congratulation to those assembled. He expressed the hope that all would reassamble at the next annual meeting and that meanwhile no man would sever his membership unless he were called to God.

Rev. Father B. H. Westermann, pastor of St. Mary's church, said the care of the orphans was the greatest work in the world. He spoke feelingly and forcibly of what St. Joseph's Orphans Society had worked for during the past sixty-one years, and complimented the members on the results attained.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Will Have a Royal Battle Over Membership Contest.

Mackin Council held a well attended meeting Monday night with President John T. Kinney in the chair. Only one member, Albert Enz, was reported on the sick list. A great part of the evening was taken up with the transaction of routine business.

Charles S. Ralby reported in behalf of St. Cecilia's Bazar Committee and his report made every member feel that he was helping to build the new church.

It was decided to open a campaign for new members, and Frank L. Lanahan and Sherley Cuniff were appointed captains to wage the warfare. Each captain will choose nine assistants to do the scouting and bring in new members. This promises to be one of the fiercest contests in the history of the council. Lanahan has the reputation of being cool, calm and collected. Cuniff goes after everything, his friends say, rough shod, but generous to his foes after the victory is won. The rival teams will have three months to battle in.

VERY TIMELY ADVICE.

San Francisco Catholics assembled in their Cathedral on the eve of the new year to take part in thanksgiving services. The Right Rev. D. J. O'Connell, Coadjutor to Archbishop Riordan, preached the sermon. His sermon, while addressed to the people of San Francisco, is applicable to the whole world, this part of it at least:

"While among men, as man to man, nothing is more common than gratitude, yet it is strange that we find so much indifference when it comes to offering gratitude to God. Men think of Him as being too far away to occupy Himself with us. But He is not far from us, for we live, move and have our being in Him. We live in God as fishes live in the sea—we are immersed in Him. Our relations to God are not external, they are internal.

"In all disappointments, sorrow, social life or the more intimate home life, there is nothing more vile, more repulsive than ingratitude. Ingratitude is something abnormal, that is found only in the heart of the conceited man.

"Have we any power of knowing and feeling that God is with us? St. Paul says we do. In our soul we see God, not face to face, as in a mirror, but in all the intelligence, energy and conscience we possess. We are made in His likeness. We live in the light of God's countenance, and He is always looking into our soul. Without Him there is no light. He is not a force of nature, but a personal God. Let us give thanks for the blessings He has conferred on our city and its people. Let us wipe out every stain, every heartache, and begin the new year with a heart that is clean and light."

Can any Catholic refuse to offer thanks as offered by Bishop O'Connell? Will not all say amen to his resolution to begin the year aright?

PINCHOT A PIONEER.

Very often, in fact too often, the man with a grievance who is dismissed from service waits until after he is discharged before he tells his troubles. This happens in many lines of business. An official of the United States Government has set all a good example. He told his troubles first and got fired afterward. Gifford Pinchot is a sort of pioneer in this line. He has money of his own. His family gave many thousands of dollars to found a College of Forestry at Yale University. Pinchot gives every evidence that he was a thorough American, but too democratic in his manner to hold the approval of Aldrich, Lodge and others of that ilk. He was a student at Yale, as was President Taft. Both belonged to the same Yale senior society, but Pinchot showed up what he believed to be rottenness. The President wanted him to keep still. Pinchot refused and was dismissed. Does anybody doubt that the sympathies of the people of the United States are with the recently removed Forester?

MISTAKEN PHILOSOPHY.

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor previous to her marriage to her distinguished husband was a Texas widow. She has espoused the cause of woman suffrage in England, and in her language seems to be as wild and unbroken as anything that roams the Texas plains. Hear Mrs. O'Connor:

"In England we have tried persuasion. Well meaning women worked for years with gentle methods and no attention was paid to them. This is a vulgar age, but it is better to be a vulgar and successful woman than an unsuccessful lady."

That may be philosophy in England, but in America the average man has no respect for a vulgar female, whether she be an unsuccessful lady or a successful woman.

DEFENDING KERENS.

Commenting on the appointment of Richard C. Kerens, of Missouri, as Ambassador to Austria, the Irish Standard of Minneapolis has this to say:

"Those who know Richard Kerens, of St. Louis, recently appointed Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, speak highly of him. His patriotism is beyond question, for he served the Union in the civil war and became Colonel of his regiment. President Taft made an appropriate appointment, for Mr. Kerens is a Catholic and he is going to represent the country at a Catholic conference. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, is the only man reported displeased at the honor conferred upon Kerens. Were that narrow Puritan in Taft's place, Kerens would stay at home. Lodge is mentioned for the Court of St. James to succeed Whitelaw Reid. The Irish of the Old Bay State should enter a vehement protest against such an appointment. He is far worse than Reid, who only spent his money lavishly in entertaining the British aristocracy. Lodge is a small bigot who boasts of his Anglo-Saxonism and has no use for superior races like the Germans and the Irish. He has dabbled in literature and poses as a historian. God save America from such literary snobs as this graduate of Harvard."

PILING UP DEBT.

Gov. Willson in his message to the Legislature announced that the State was facing a deficit of $2,000,000. In a spirit of economy the Senate promptly created twelve new offices. None of the new officials are to receive more than $5 a day. Nor is this all. Both Senators and Representatives are daily introducing bills creating new offices in cities, counties and State.

For instance, Senator Arnett has offered a bill creating the office of county detective at $1,200 a year. Remember, please, that there are 119 counties in Kentucky. The same Senator offers a bill creating the office of detective to Commonwealth's Attorneys in cities of the second class, and fixing the salaries at $1,200 a year. Mr. Arnett also offers a bill providing for a State boiler inspector at a salary of $2,400 a year and a State hotel inspector at $1,500. Why not create offices of State snow ball inspector or State hallstone inspector? They would be just as useful as the offices suggested by Senator Arnett.

ADVICE WORTH HEEDING.

The Missionary, an esteemed contemporary, gives this good advice:

"Never read an insult to your faith, an assault upon Christian virtue, an inspiration of your honor as a servant of Christ, without at once sending a letter or at least a post card to the publisher, insisting that he has wronged you and humanity and God. This is a small price to pay for your indulgence in the pleasure of reading. If you will not pay it, perhaps you will later have to pay the price of losing your faith and your soul. But if you do protest, if only all the Catholics in America protested, doubtless this would purchase the redemption of our age. The press is our master, our slave, our most intimate associate, our liberator, our despot, our enjoyment, our punishment. It is very likely to prove our ruin. But through the persevering expression of righteous wrath on the part of enlightened Catholics it can become our salvation."

In these times there is scarcely a day that some insult to the church is not found in the columns of the daily papers. A united protest from Catholics would revolutionize the daily news.

FEDERATION GROWS Apace.

The American Federation of Catholic Societies has made wonderful strides in membership and good works during the past year. The organization has the unanimous support of the American hierarchy, and Archbishops and Bishops are commending its members for the good work done individually and collectively. The Right Rev. James A. McFaul, Bishop of Trenton, who has supported the movement from its inception, sums up the organization in this wise: "The clergy and laity of America have laid the foundation of a great apostolate of the laity which will grow stronger as the years roll by."

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Senator Herman D. Newcomb has introduced a bill calculated to revolutionize the manner of inflicting the death penalty in Kentucky. His bill provides for electrocution instead of hanging. The measure carries with it an appropriation for $7,000 for the installation of the necessary electrical apparatus and equipment of the death chamber. Some people consider electrocution a more humane method of inflicting capital punishment than hanging. The man electrocuted may make a prettier corpse than the man whose life is choked out by a rope, but is there any humanity in inflicting the death penalty at all?

CARELESS PEOPLE.

Kentucky legislators should remember that they are assembled in Frankfort to abolish bad laws as well as to enact good ones. The majority of the Representatives and Senators are lawyers. There is a lot of latent wisdom lurking in lawyers and about as much honesty as can be found among any set of men, but unfortunately lawyers are very human. Many of them make no use of their wisdom and treat their honesty with criminal negligence.

Dr. Charles P. Granfield, First Assistant Postmaster General, recommends thirty days' annual leave of absence for clerks and carriers in post-offices of the first and second class. He makes a strong argument in its favor. Those who know how hard the local clerks and carriers work indorse the recommendation.

Caruso was unable to sing for the benefit of the new Italian hospital in New York, but he sent his check for $2,000. It has been said that money talks. Now it looks like Caruso makes it sing.

SIGN OF CROSS

Played an Important Part in American Civil War.

It is known to perhaps very few Americans that the sign of the cross has played a very important part in the history of our civil war. Yet it saved a whole detachment of Confederate troops and did much in deciding the battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861. It was on the eve of the great struggle for the control of the Smith was too late to receive the password. He knew that any attempt to approach his own army in darkness would expose his division to a murderous fire, while if he tarried till morning he would certainly fall into the hands of the Federal army. To save his men, he asked if one of them would willingly face death for his comrades. Without a word a young soldier stepped before the ranks.

"Are you aware," the General asked, "of the danger to which you are exposing yourself?"

"General, I am."

"You know you will not get through alive. They will shoot you."

"General, I know it."

The General then wrote on a piece of paper: "Send me the countersign, Gen. Smith."

This he handed to the young man and ordered him to bear it to Beauregard. He thought, if the man is shot down, at least the note will be found.

Our young hero draws near the guard.

"Friend!" was the answer.

"Countersign," was demanded.

But our hero advanced without reply; in an instant six guns were pointing at his heart. Without a word our hero made a large sign of the cross upon his breast and threw up his hands. Immediately the muzzle dropped. The sign of the cross, as made by this brave Catholic soldier, was the countersign ordered for the day by Beauregard, a Catholic General.

GIFTS FROM INDIANS.

Bishop Walsh, of Portland, Maine, was received in private audience by Pope Pius X. recently, and was detained for an unusually long time. The visitor from Maine presented the Pope with several baskets and other articles of skilled and interesting workmanship, which were made by Indians living within the diocese of Portland. His Holiness was much pleased with the gifts.

FUND FOR INDIANS.

Returns from the Society for the Preservation of the Faith Among Indian Children for 1909 show a gain of $6,670.88 over the receipts for 1908. The good record of the past year has lit up a ray of hope in the hearts of the depending missionaries and their friends, yet the indebtedness of the Indian Bureau to the schools is $33,000. Better things are hoped for this year.

THE GREEN AND GOLD.

The green and gold, what wealth untold
Of memories dear lie hidden here,
If we but pause to meditate
O'er winged fancy's broad estate.

Memories of youth, bright days,
From out the past come trooping
fast,
Sweep o'er me, bearing swift along
With rushing, tireless, ceaseless throng.

Back through those days, and now I gaze,
The veil upheld, the mists dispelled,
Far down the vista of the years,
Where youth's light heart, care-free appears.

O youth, that feels the high ideals
Of manhood rare, do you now bear
The memory of that noble aim
Accounted more than earthly fame?

O gallant ones, St. Xavier's sons,
May all of you prove ever true
And faithful to those colors old,
The hopeful green, the loving gold.

James W. Delaney, a well known young man of the West End, died at the family residence, 2312 West Market street, on Friday morning of last week. Death resulted from heart disease. Only a few days before Mr. Delaney was appointed a Deputy County Assessor by County Assessor Edward A. Barry. He is survived by his mother, one brother and five sisters.

TEACH YOUR GIRLS.

Ed D. Shinnick, editor of the Shelby Record, tells Shelby county parents what to teach their daughters. His lesson might be profitably applied in Louisville. Read his words of wisdom:

Teach them self-reliance.
Teach them to make bread.
Teach them to add up bills.
Teach them to wear thick, warm shoes.
Teach them to wash and iron clothes.
Teach them how to make their own dresses.
Teach them how to cook a good meal.
Teach them every day dry, hard common sense.
Teach them to say "no" and mean it, or "yes" and stick to it.
Teach them to wear calico dresses and do it like queens.
Give them a good substantial common school education.
Teach them that a good rosy romp is worth fifty consumptions.
Teach them to regard the morals and not the money of their beaux.
Teach them all the mysteries of the kitchen, dining-room and parlor.
Teach them that the more one lives within his income the more he will save.

USE MUCH IRON.

For every man, woman and child in the United States there is manufactured each week more than twelve pounds of finished iron and steel products.

WEDDING GIFTS.

Young bride—a wreath for thee
Of sweet and gentle flowers;
For wedded love was pure and free
In Eden's happy bowers.

Young bride—a song for thee,
A song of joyous measure,
For thy cup of hope shall be Filled with honeyed pleasure.

Young bride—a tear for thee,
A tear in all thy gladness;
For thy young heart shall not see
Joy unmixed with sadness.

Young bride—a smile for thee,
To shine away thy sorrow,
For Heaven is kind today, and we
Will hope as well tomorrow.

Young bride—a prayer for thee,
That all thy hopes possessing,
Thy soul may praise her God, and He
May crown thee with his blessing.

LETTER CARRIER ILL.

Charles Prather, a popular letter carrier, is suffering from a carbuncle on his neck. His friends hope to see him back on duty within a few days.

CAN'T LOSE THEM.

To prevent the loss of women's back and side combs, an ingenious inventor has patented combs with a small hook on the under side to engage the hair.

CHOOSE YOUR WORDS.

A lady who was very plain looking called on a friend. This friend's little girl came into the room, and her mother introduced her.

"But, mamma, isn't she awfully homely?" said the "young hopeful" after the lady's departure.

"Why, Laura, you mustn't say such things. It isn't polite."

"I meant it only as a joke."

"But, dear, how much more of a joke it would have been if you had said, 'How pretty she is!'"

CHEESE SCRAMBLED EGGS.

Scrambled eggs with cheese: Six eggs, six tablespoonfuls of water, six tablespoonfuls of grated cream cheese, one tablespoonful butter.

Lightly beat eggs, add water. Put butter in piping hot frying pan. Then add eggs, scatter cheese on top of eggs. Toss up lightly until done, but soft. Serve on buttered toast.

MONKEY SENSE.

A youth who was smoking a cigarette near the monkey's cage, took another from his pocket.

"Would it do any harm," he asked, "if I should offer him one?"

"Not a bit of it," responded the attendant. "He wouldn't touch it. A monkey isn't half as big a fool as he looks."

HEAVY TRAFFIC.

Steam railways of the United States carry a large number of passengers each year, but the railways of New York City carry sixty-six per cent. more than all of them combined. During the last year these interurban lines carried 1,300,000,000 passengers.

ALCOHOL.

In case of a cut or bruise of any kind where the skin is broken, wash the wound immediately with alcohol, using an absolutely clean piece of linen or medicated gauze. This lessens the danger of blood poisoning and sometimes prevents it.

EGGLESS PANCAKES.

One cupful of sour milk or butter-milk, a little salt, half teaspoonful of soda, half teaspoonful of melted lard, and enough flour to make a soft batter. This gives a rich and flaky taste to the cakes.

WILL LOOK LIKE NEW.

Dampen a square of cheesecloth with a furniture polish made of equal parts of sweet oil, vinegar and kerosene. It will brighten the finest mahogany and makes floors and furniture look like newly waxed.

CHOCOLATE WAFERS.

A healthy and economical candy for children is made by making a chocolate filling the same as for cake or candy, then dipping oyster crackers in the candy. Then lay on greased paper or plate until cooled.

DRIED FRUIT.

To get the best results from dried fruits of any kind, put to soak in warm water to which a generous pinch of salt has been added. This idea was given me by a chef. I have found it an advantage, so pass it on.

PATENT HAIRPIN.

By inventing a hairpin the prongs of which normally are close together, but which may be sprung open to insert, a Pennsylvania woman has designed a device more secure than pins of the usual form.

SILK HINT.

When grease is spilled on silk, while fresh sprinkle ordinary talcum powder on the spots and rub gently with a soft piece of linen. The powder will absorb the grease and leave absolutely no mark.

"NO BOILING."

Do not boil clothes; it causes them to become yellow. Prepare a boiling hot suds and pour over them. Wash through this by hand, rinse and blue, and they will be white and not steamed up house.

WILL REMOVE RUST.

Kerosene poured on a rusty bolt or screw that refuses to turn will remove the rust and the bolt may be unscrewed easily.

IRELAND.

GROWING RAPIDLY

And Sarto Council Will Soon Enter Its New Home.

Sarto Council, of Owensboro, installed officers at a "candlelight" meeting on Wednesday evening of last week. President August Graf and the other new officers acted like veterans in taking hold of their work and started several movements for building up the order during the year. District Deputy Fred Arnold was the installing officer and was assisted by Andrew Oberst. After the speeches and business routine the Literary Committee served an appetizing lunch. The coming twelve months promise to be the most successful in the history of the council. The new home of the council is nearing completion and all the members are working enthusiastically. The first entertainment of the year was held on Wednesday night, and was in the nature of a reception to the council's Ladies' Auxiliary. The report of the Executive Committee showed a very substantial gain both financially and socially during the last quarter.

HINTS FOR THE HOME.

A cloth moistened with alcohol will clean piano keys.

Clean linoleum with warm water and polish with milk.

Clean soiled wallpaper with plaster of paris tied up in a muslin bag.

Ammonia used unsparingly cleanses and purifies kitchen utensils.

No soap on window panes! Rub them with either alcohol or ammonia to make them shine.

Decorated china plates should be put away with round pieces of cotton flannel between them.

Apply the white of an egg with a camel's hair brush to fly specks on gilt frames and they will disappear.

Soft soap made from half a pound of shaved down hard soap and two quarts of water will save the soap bill at cleaning time.

All the cooking utensils should be washed with soda immediately after they have been used, which will remove every trace of grease.

Grated raw potato makes a splendid cleanser for carpets. Rub it over the surface and finish off with a clean cloth wrung out of warm water.

Cover plaster of paris figures with a thick coating of starch and water, let it dry on the surface and the dirt will brush off with the dry powder.

His other surviving children are Hugh and Lawrence Mattingly. Mrs. William Spalding, Mrs. Charles Deaven and Mrs. Charles L. Cecil, of St. Mary's. Chairman Martel has appointed an entertainment committee of which he will be the ex-officio head. With his keen sense of humor, dash and vigor the Gallagher Club expects to make good during the coming six months. He proposes to offer a minstrel show on March 17.

FATHER KOENIG'S
 NERVE TONIC
 Not Like Certain Doctors.
 Dr. J. A. Drogin of St. Johnsbury, Vt., writes Feb. 20, 1907. I am not a certain doctor, and am antagonistic to proprietary medicines, when I know their value. As to Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, I have tested its quality a long time ago and have often prescribed the same for persons, who applied for it repeatedly afterwards.

Hopewell, W. Va., Sept. 6, 1907.
 As farmer being often exposed to the rain I was frequently troubled with Rheumatism and my stomach was also afflicted. The doctors diagnosis of my case was indigestion. Last fall I was troubled frequently. A pain beginning in my right side would move towards my stomach and would become so violent that I suffered as much as a human being could endure for hours, at a time. I then began to take Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic and after having taken the first spoonful the pain stopped. Then I took the rest of the bottle and the pain has never returned.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases and a Sample bottle to any address. Poor people also get the medicine free. Prepared by the Rev. Father Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and now by the KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill., 100 Lake Street.

Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle, 6 for Large Size, $1.75; 6 Bottles for $9.

REPAINTING CATHEDRAL.

The interior of the Cathedral of the Assumption is to be repainted and brightened up. Workmen began erecting the scaffolds on Tuesday morning. The painting will be pushed so that the interior decorations will be completed by Easter Sunday.

FAR FROM HOME.

Beloved Young Girl Died While on Pleasure Trip.

Word was received in Louisville Sunday of the death of Miss Isabelle Osborne, which occurred at Cairo, Egypt, last week. Miss Osborne with her father, Thomas D. Osborne, and mother was making a tour of the world when death overtook her. The cable message says that Mr. and Mrs. Osborne were also quite ill, but that the father was now convalescing and the mother entirely well.

The Osborne family left Louisville last fall to make a tour of the world. The deceased is survived by her parents and the following sisters: Mrs. Charlotte Woodbury, Mrs. Christopher Urwick, Mrs. W. B. Garity and Miss Julia Osborne.

Mr. Osborne was for years a trustee of the Walnut-street Baptist church, an employee of the Louisville Sinking Fund and fraternal and religious editor of the Courier-Journal. Miss Osborne was highly regarded for her womanly graces.

TRINITY COUNCIL

Works Well With Its New President Welding Gavel.

Vic K. Ecker, the new President of Trinity Council, presided at the meeting Monday night and welded the gavel like an old hand. Reports from the retiring officers showed that Trinity had enjoyed a prosperous year.

Each of the new officers pledged loyal support to the council. The attendance was large and the applause of the speakers was generous. Reports from the various committees in charge of the New Year's carnival and baby show developed the fact that the affair had been a financial success.

President Ecker is one of the young men who do things. He has not promised anything loudly for Trinity, but he has promised support. That is enough to enlist other loyal members to follow his example.

WHITE STAR LINE

Continues to Use Queens-town as a Port of Entry.

Considerable agitation has been aroused in this country and in Ireland on account of the rumors of the abandonment of Queenstown as a port of call for trans-Atlantic steamers from New York. This means to all passengers who desire to land at Queenstown, that they would have to proceed to England or Wales and land either at Liverpool, Fishguard, Plymouth or Southampton, adding part of a day or more to the ocean voyage and causing considerable expense and inconvenience to Irish passengers and tourists desiring to land at Queenstown, who would be obliged to return to Ireland via a cross-channel steamer. The passage on such steamers is not always as pleasant as it might be.

It will be welcome news to many, however, that the White Star Line, all of whose steamers are Irish built, has no intention whatever of abandoning Queenstown, which has been a port of call for its steamers since the beginning of the line in 1873, and they wish the Irish people to know that at the present time these steamers are the only boats sailing from New York which call at Queenstown to land passengers and Irish mail.

LANDS OF THE OLIVE.

An illustrated lecture on the "Lands of the Olive" was a treat furnished friends and patrons of Hirsch Bros. & Company in the Seelbach auditorium on Wednesday night. The lecturer was H. C. Newcomb, a former United States Consul. Mr. Newcomb led his audience of 1,800 people, through France, Italy and Spain, showed them olive groves, and how the fruit is gathered and packed. The lecture was interesting and advantageous from an educational standpoint. A buffet luncheon followed the lecture. Messrs. Dave, Louis and Ben Hirsch received their guests and made all feel perfectly at home. The Hirsch idea of illustrating pure food products is a splendid one.

OFFICER GLEASON.

Robert G. Gleason has been appointed a patrolman by the Jeffersonville Board of Police Commissioners and will enter upon his duties tomorrow. Mr. Gleason has held a responsible foremanship in the Indiana Reformatory for several years. He is prominent in Hibernian circles and has a host of friends on both sides of the river, who predict he will make an alert and careful officer.

PNEUMONIA VICTIM.

Edward Murphy, well and favorably known in Lexington, died at St. Joseph's Hospital in that city last Saturday morning. Death resulted from pneumonia. The deceased was forty-five years old, and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jennie Murphy; two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Collins and Mrs. Anna Beckett; and two brothers, A. C. and C. W. Murphy, all of Lexington.

REPAINTING CATHEDRAL.
